Foreward

The fundamental purpose of a high school is to provide educational opportunities for all students. Consequently, the curriculum must be general in nature. The school is concerned with the students physical self, his social adjustment, his emotional growth, his spiritual attitudes and ethical values as well as his intellectual development.

Recently there has been growing trend in schools to be concerned with the students educational and vocational future, after leaving high school. Schools now try to help students think constructively about their own abilities and limitations, about further education beyond high school and about job opportunities. Principals and guidance counselors are in a good position to advise students on choosing schools or jobs based on their abilities and aptitudes. Students will thus be prepared for positions that are in keeping with their capacities and interests. This will make them better citizens and better workers.

R. E. Wald

To the Stuart Community School District and the individuals who made this fine, new school possible, we, the Senior Class of nineteen hundred and sixty two, take pleasure in presenting to you our annual.

We are indeed proud to be the first graduating class from this school. May many young citizens, who will take their place in the society of tomorrow, graduate annually from this structure.

We trust our gratitude is shown by the dedication of this, our yearbook.

Class Prophecy

Here we are in the year of 1980 and we are taking a trip around the United States to once again meet all our old classmates from the graduating class of 1962.

Our starting point is Stuart, Iowa. We are ready to take off in our space ship.

Twenty minutes later we find ourselves near Dallas, Texas. Who do we see, but Donna Trine, the famous oil millionaire. Talking to her, we find that another of our classmates, Milcena Gilman, with all her 4-H ability, is now the proud owner of the famous King Ranch, now the Gilman Ranch.

From here we fly to New Orleans to attend the Mardi Gras. To our amazement we find the same ole Jack Urquhart and Larry Cotter, living it up as usual!

Our next stop is Washington D. C. We are surprised to learn that Pat Potter is the president's personal physician. The president is none other than Bill Wagner and the first lady is Kathryn Pieper.

From here we boarded our ship for a flight to New York where we learned of Charles Hartman's great success as a baseball player. He has just hit his 62nd home run to break Roger Maris' record of '61.

We decided to go to the United Nations. There we see Myrna Heckman, the new Secretary of the United Nations, pounding her gavel for order.

That night we are invited by Fran Sherman, to see her star in her new musical hit, entitled "The Small Town Girl Makes Good."

On our way to the airport, we pass the Empire State building. Who do we find there but Craig Wallace and Chuck O'Brien who are loaded down with window washing equipment. They have risen to heights in this city as window washers on the 95th floor. We always predicted high futures for these boys!

Boarding our space-ship, we are ready for our flight to Chicago. Seeing some of our old classmates sure seemed good.

A few minutes later brought us to the airport in Chicago. Our first stop was to see Elizabeth Rohret who told us she had discovered a new metal: "Elizium." Our heartiest congratulations to her! She told us to be sure to stop in and see Patty Waltz who works at the Lincoln Park Zoo. She trains aligators now and she is very proficient at her job!

We decided to stop for a bite to eat and who did we see but Chef Darlene Moore preparing a delicious meal. She told us that the silver tongued orator was speaking in Chicago. This famous orator turned out to be none other than Mabel Lyddon, giving an essay entitled, "What To Do With Litterbugs."

We find Mike Slaybaugh as the editor of the Saturday Evening Post! He has devoted an entire section to one of his fellow classmates—it seems this gal is even wanted by the Globe Trotters. Who else but Carolyn Gilliam, the star of the first U. S. Olympic girls' basketball team!

Prophecy continued

We understand that Judy Clifton has her own Ballet school and Marcia Everett is one of her star pupils. They call Marcia "Twinkle Toes." We guess that Judy gave up the "Twist."

On the street corner we picked up a newspaper and saw that Chuck Knight had won the Indianapolis 500, (in his '55 Ford.) Imagine that! His picture is on the front page, and there is his faithful pit crewman beside him. Yep—good ole Ivan Fredericksen, who has set a record himself. He is, officially, the fastest tire changer in the world!

We board the space ship and set the automatic controls for Las Vegas. The trip was fast and we decided to go into the gambling casinos. There at the first table was Walter Kinnan, figuring the odds on the slot machines with his slide rule. He has made quite a haul!

Boarding our space ship which is taking us to Hollywood, the stewardess calls to our attention that we have two of Hollywood's most promising stars aboard. They are none other than Teri Wright, who has taken over as the star of the Perry Mason T. V. show and Richard Clark, who is starring as Hoss Cartwright of the Bonanza T. V. show.

While in Hollywood, we decided to attend the premier of the "Bashful Redhead" staring none other than our Charlene Cook who has taken over Lucy Balls' place on the screen. Charlene met us after the premier and told us to stop in Disneyland which is now owned by Kit McDowall. We assured her that we would!

After a pleasant visit with all of our former classmates, we were now ready to fly to Cape Canaveral, where famous astronaut, Jerry Oge, was to be shot into space. After landing on the Cape, our attention was directed toward a huge billboard with this written on it: "The W & W Manufacturing Company," makers of guided missles, spaceships and other outer space equipment. Upon inquiring, we learned the owners were Jerry Woodson and Mike Wambold.

Also on hand for the launching were the two famous space scientists, Janet Faust and Joie Taylor. Those two sure have come a long way.

Our next stop was Atlanta, Georgia, where the Miss America pagaent was being held. To our amazement, we found out that the winner of the title was our own home town girl, Geraldine Maline. Also, in Atlanta, we were lucky enough to share the honor of entertaining another of our former classmates, Sandi Ray, who now owns a chain of luxurious motels across the United States.

Just ten minutes after our visit in Atlanta, we arrived in Havanna, Cuba, where we find Carole Wright, now a faithful member of the peace corps, teaching Castro how to share. Watch out Carole!! That may be Kruschev in disguise.

From Havanna we decided to take an atomic submarine up the Eastern coast before our trip back to Stuart.

After arriving in the states, we board a train which by the way, is the only major line left in the country. Of course it's the J. S. owned by Joyce Strong. We are now fast on our way home.

We have missed a few of our classmates, for their success has been outside the United States. Charles Thompson is in Paris, designing hair styles for all the beautiful French models. In Moscow, Sandra Pollard has a monopoly on "The Tootsie Roll Business."

Down in darkest Africa, Cathy Farrell is a famous hunter and safari guide, and Fran Wiese has control of a huge diamond mine which she discovered on a trip to Africa.

We have now arrived back at home sweet home--good old Stuart.

We hope that all of our classmates have as much success as we have predicted for them, but no matter what happens, we know our carefree class will always be happy in whatever they do!

CLASS WILL 1962

I, Richard Clark, will part of my weight to Carmon Lyllon--you need it, Carmon.

I, July Clifton, will my ability to get along with teachers to my sister Marilyn.

I, Charlene Cook, will by rabbit ears to my sister Karen. I hope they bring you as much luck as they brought me.

I, Marcia Everett, will my chem lab desk and all the broken equipment to Jimmy Rellen--have fun Jim.

I, Cathy Farrell, will my mathematical genius to anyone who thinks they can handle him.

I, Janet Faust, will my ability to keep long hair to Belva Hauf.

I, Charlie Hartman, will my French Club Presidency to Dick Doherty.

I, Myrna Heckman, will my job as basketball manager to anybody who wants it.

I, Shirley James, will my forgetfulness to bring my excuses for admit slips to David Rhodes.

I, Walt Kinnan, will my shoes to any underclassman who thinks he can fill size 12½.

I, Chuck Knight, will my ability to get hurt during football to any prospective football player who wants the easy way out.

I, Mabel Lyllon, will my younger brother (with his gift of gab included) to the faculty so they won't miss me when I'm gone. Keep smiling Mr. Warner!

I, Geraldine Maline, will the ability to get up earlier in the morning to my little sis. Don't forget to brush your teeth, Pat.

I, Jim Martes, will my ability to be boys basketball manager to any girl who thinks she can handle the job.

I, Kit McDovall, will my "Bonneville" to anyone who owns a small oil well.

I, Darlene Moore, will to Steve Nopoulos, the ability to keep a smile CONSTANTLY.

I, Chuck O'Brien, will my singing ability to anybody who is stupid enough to sing that high.

I, Jerry Oge, will my magic hat to any underclassman who needs it--it's good for any situation that calls for a rabbit.

I, Kathy Pieper, will my curly hair to whoever wants it. Good luck, you'll need it.

I, Sandy Pollard, will my ability to talk faster, be busier, do more, and still not get a darn thing done to Billy Shea.

I, Pat Potter will my forgetfulness to return borrowed pencils to anyone with a real good memory.

I, Ruth Rasmussen, will my ability to sing to Joan McGinnis. Hope it gets you somewhere, Joan.

I, Sandi Ray, will my ability to invite girls who like to go swimming at midnight or to slumber parties to my sister, Nancy. Hope you can keep it from Mom as long as I have.

I, Elizabeth Rohret, will my physics grades to Mary Clare, who will no doubt need them in the future.

I, Fran Sherman, will my ability to get along with those wild sophomore boys to anybody with a whip and chair. Back, John Jones! Back!,

I, Mike Slaybaugh, will my ability to make the last touchdown of the season to anyone who wants it. Good luck boys.

I, Joyce Strong, will my height to Harold Stark so he too can reach the basketball net without a ladder.

I, Joie Taylor, will my homework to any underclassman with a good strong arm.

I, Charlie Thompson, will my '48 Fury to a freshman pal, Steve Lonsdale, who has asways wanted one just like it. Also, lots-a-luck to my Senior classmates in whatever they may do.

I, Donna Trine, will my height to Nancy Ray--start growing Nancy.

I, Jack Urquhart, will my ability to be quiet in class to the freshman boys--lots of luck, Dwayne.

I, Bill Wagner, will my ability to keep my Ford running to anyone who wants to go into debt.

I, Mike Wambold, will my ability to sleep in study hall to Jon Nopoulos. May you rest in peace.

I, Craig Wallace, will my hearse to any student intending to go into the funeral business. Good luck with the deadbeats.

I, Patty Waltz, will my ability to not get my drivers license to Sandy Miller. I hope you can put up with all the nagging and jeering you get from your friends.

I, Fran Wiese, will my secretarial job to any girl in the Junior class who wants it.

I, Jerry Woodson, will my curly hair and my ability to get along with Mr. Warner to David Rhoades. You're in bad need of both, Dave.

I, Carole Wright, will my unfailing ability to pass through the homeroom door exactly one minute before the tardy bell to Lee Johnson.

I, Teri Wright, will my beauty, brains, charm, wit, intelligence, and modesty to any fool who is stupid enough to get stuck with the mess--namely Sandy Miller.
